Old District Split; Village Gets New One

Redlands Man New Manager Here; Nash Plant Superintendent

In the first organizational shakeup in 20 years, the California Water and Telephone Company has split one of its three administrative districts into two in order to set up a district headquarters in Palm Springs and provide this area with better service. The change, announced Friday, followed an intensive campaign begun nearly a year ago by the Desert Sun for improved equipment and service, which in turn produced a series of hearing on the adequacy of service by the Pub-Utilities Commission. Meanwhile the company has put under way an extensive line construction

IN THE REORGANIZATION anounced by Fred H. MacGougan, division manager in Monrovia, the former large Redlands district, centaining about 38,000 phones, is divided into two separate districts.

The new Redlands district will have supervision over exchanges in Redlands, Banning, Beaumont, Hemet, Perris, Elsinore, San Ja-Moreno, Temecula and Idyllwild.

Heading that district will be Leland Allen, 49, former equipment installation supervisor of the company's Monrovia office, who will succeed the former Redlands dis-trict manager, E. R. "Ted" Fish-er, who is being retired.

THE NEWLY-CREATED, Palm Springs headquartered district — to be known as the Desert district—will comprise exchanges in Palm Springs, Cathedral City. Desert Hot Springs, Joshua Tree. Yucca Valley and Twentynine

It will be headed by Doak Davis, former Redlands district en-gineer. Davis will move his office to Palm Springs and William C. Nash, former local manager, will become plant superintendent

The desert district will contain somewhat less than half of the over-all Redlands district.

Davis, an employe of the tele phone company since 1928, is a naed from Redlands High School in Nash has been with the Palm Springs office approximately 20 years, having come here from the Redlands office where he was in the engineering department. A very few of these addicts are the result of medical treatment in which drugs are used in the course of a serious illness, or after a surgical procedure. Most addicts are introduced into usage through social influences and contacts.

This is especially true in our teenagers and young adult addicts. Very few of these addicts come to physicians for treatment -most of them are first apprehended and according to the laws sent to penal institutions of the state or to the federal institution for treatment.

"D" Day-for Disneyland. That was the big day for more than forty Desert Sun carrier salesmen. There has probably never been a more enthusiastic bunch of boys in Palm Springs than this group that took a Tanner chartered bus to the modern day paradise, "Disneyland." Long before departure time a sizable group of youngsturs was on hand to spend a full day at doing the things they like best, gorging on hot dags, ice cream, pop and a varied selection of things that kids like most, usually dispensed at a fun center like Disneyland. On arrival at this fairyland, like all fairy tales come true, the day began properly with the handing out of a book of tickets to insure the day's pleasure of riding and sightseeing. To make sure that there would be no doubts as to whether they were any place else but fairyland, George E. Cameron, Jr., president of The Desert Sun Pulishing Co., met each boy at the gate with a crisp five dollar bill to "blow." Enthusiasm soon turned to hilarity, as the group ran helter-skelter from one thing to another. Although noise and laughter were unrestrained, the boys without exception were gentlemen all the way. As the day went on, the fun grew to a tempo that only a group of boys on an outing could maintain. Rides on the river steamer "Tom Sawyer" on a simulated Mississippi River, past wharves and towns typical of that day, gave one the sensation of briefly living the life of Tom Saw-

A visit to "Tomorrowland" quickly carried the boys through time and space to a world of tomorrow that could only be possible at Disneyland.

Rides on horse-drawn trolleys, old-time trains, automobiles of the 1900 vintage were surpassed only by the many shops familiar only to our grandparents.

As departure time drew near, enthusiasm waned not one lota, but physically and funwise the boys had had it.

As they wearily dragged themselves aboard the bus for the return journey the conversation turned to recalling the fun

Most of the ride was spent in a deep sleep by the majority of the group, and was interrupted only at the half-way point by doing the thing boys like most to do, eating hamburgers and ice cream and drinking pop and malts.
